FAST SWIMMING FEAT.

Chicago Man Clips a Second From the American Record.

Chicago, March 12. — Walter Age, a young swimmer, 18 years of age, created a new American record Wednesday in the tank of the Chicago Athletic association. It was in the quarter-mile race, an open contest, one of three, at different distances, for the indoor championship of the Central Association of Amateur Athletic association.

Blum's time, 6:23 2/5, is exactly one second faster than any time done before in this country. The previous record is that of A. T. Kenney, of Philadelphia, the former Australian swimmer, who, during the World's Fair, beat all the best men in the country in the lagoon in Jackson park.

Five goliaths were destroyed and a bridge burned by raiders in Bath County Tuesday night. County Judge Ramsey declines to appoint guards because the provisions of the constitution have not been complied with by the turnpike companies.

SATURDAY, MAR. 12, 1898

SENATOR GOEBEL will discover, when he shall have secured the gubernatorial nomination next year on the Democratic ticket; that the people believe in fair play, that a free ballot and a fair count are the dearest political rights that a Kentuckian claims.

In order to make the Goebel Force bill a success, the Democrats should elect three commissioners whose chief characteristic is daredevil nerve. It will take reckless and fearless men to return fraudulent counts of election returns under the operation of that law.

People who don't thoroughly understand the object of the Goebel Force bill, should remember these things: The law does not deprive the voter of the secret ballot. He can, under its operation, vote his sentiments just as at any time before now under the secret ballot system. The Goebel law pertains solely to the counting of the votes. This will hereafter be done by Democrats and Democrats only. The three counting commissioners will meet and by themselves will make up the official returns. No restraining hand will be present to hinder any fraudulent act, and no hostile eye to detect the fraudulent returns that may be made to the three state commissioners. It takes but little thought to see how great power is thus placed in the hands of a partisan board, and it can readily be seen that the elections now depend entirely on the counters and not on the voters.

The Goebel Election bill became a law over the Governor's veto. The party of conspirators now in control of affairs at Frankfort, maddened by the defeat of 1896, and hoping by force, chicanery and fraud to prevent their faction from falling into a minority, have adopted this revolutionary measure. The vote of the state has been placed in the keeping of a venal lot of political mercenaries, who will not falter at any rascality demanded of them by their masters. Even if such a law would be administered by saints or angels, it is yet so antagonistic to every principle of a free vote and a fair count that it should not prevail. The passage of this law so far as its political operations are concerned should not be a complaint of Republicans. There is no doubt this infamous proceeding will awaken the resentment of every honest man in the state and that he will vote to overthrow the party which enacted and supports it, and defeat its candidates. Free silver Republicans will rally to the old party at the call of "a free ballot and a fair count." Democrats tired of certain politicians and cliques will vote for any party to stamp their indignation on machine politics and machine politicians. As it stands patent to all the world today there is but one hope for the people of the state and that is the Republican party led by its best men.

Today is an auspicious time to consider the street sprinkling question. Nature is attending to it now, and hence the Mayor and the Council can give the question calm and deliberate consideration. It is unnecessary to speak of the disagreeable features of a day when the air is full of biting sand and penetrating dust. The question before the council is not whether the streets shall be sprinkled; there is, of course, no division of opinion on that point. But the question is, or should be, how to secure the greatest results from the least expenditure of money. If the individual lot owner sprinkles the street fronting on his property, he must pay for the privilege. His neighbor, however, may not go to that expense, and hence the one who does sprinkle is still annoyed with dust. He spends his money but gets insufficient returns. To avoid this inequality or injustice, the council should have the most frequent streets sprinkled under the management of the street committee or some other council committee. The cost can be assessed upon all lot owners proportionately to their frontage. By this means, the one who has been accustomed to pay for the sprinkling privilege will not have to pay as much as before, while his neighbor, who has refused to contribute his share to the comfort of the neighborhood and the pleasure

MOVING UP TO THE HEAD OF THE CLASS.
In respect to foreign trade the United States has in the last ten years risen from fourth to third place among the nations of the earth. England and Germany still lead, but France has fallen from second to fourth place. This is according to Jules Roche, formerly French minister of finance and commerce—Washington dispatch.

seeking public, will have to pay his share like all the rest. This is but fair and equitable. It is not only a place to promote public comfort, but the general health of the public as well.

M'KINLEY'S FIRST YEAR.

The first year of the term of President McKinley has ended. Can any reader recall a presidential administration in which as large a number of promises made have been fulfilled in a single year? There was a promise of improvement in business, and business has improved. There was a promise that the financial integrity of the country would be maintained and that more currency would be put into circulation and this has been done. There was a promise that a new tariff law would be enacted and the receipts of the Treasury made to meet the expenditures and this promise has been carried out. There was a further promise that under this new tariff law industries would be revived, and this is apparent in the large number of reports of new manufacturing establishments and increased wages paid by old ones. It was promised that this increased activity would bring an advance in prices of farm products and this promise has been completely fulfilled by an advance in the price of practically every article produced on the farm. It was promised that with this increased business there would be greater activity among railroads, which employ such vast numbers of people. This promise has been redeemed. The earnings of thirty principal railroads, which in the month of February 1897, were twelve and a quarter millions, were, in February, 1898, $13,700,000. The money in circulation has increased more than fifty million dollars and the gold in circulation has increased $37,000,000.

Wheat has advanced, corn has advanced, rye and barley have advanced, so have oats and butter and wool; in fact everything that the farmer produced. The only article which has fallen has been silver. The President and his party took the most prompt means possible to redeem the pledges of the party with reference to this question by sending a commission to the great nations of Europe, asking their co-operation looking to the restoration of silver to its former standard, the preliminary steps for this action having been taken even before the inauguration of President McKinley. That proposition was declined and it now remains to determine what future steps can be taken in that line, and what ever can be done to that end will be done. In other matters outside of business the dignity and honor of the country have been maintained. Every American citizen confined in Cuban prisons has been released. The promise of prompt action in regard to Hawaiian annexation has been kept by the President and his associates and final action is only delayed by a Senate controlled by those opposed to the President and his party.

The dignity, the honor, the safety, the nation have been maintained in the face of critical conditions regarding our relations with Spain, and the people of the country today, irrespective of party, commend the President's attitude upon this subject and rejoice with him in the successes which have attended the first year of his administration.

EVAN SETTLE

Votes For the Appropriation And Eulogizes McKinley.

When the time arrived at Tuesday's session of the house to debate the $50,000,000 appropriation bill under the five minute rule, Hon Evan Settle, the brilliant democratic congressman from the Seventh Kentucky district, secured recognition, and made a great speech. He spoke eulogistically of the private character of the president. He said he had told the democrats of Kentucky that he would support McKinley in every good work he might inaugurate, and he was here now to redeem the pledge. His only regret was that the opportunity had not presented itself before, for he thought the curtain should be run down on the horrible drama which was being enacted off the southern border of this country. He paid a magnificent tribute to the Blue Grass state, and told in beautiful language the part she had played in history. His speech was applauded to the echo. He said this might be a peace appropriation, and he would vote for it, and he would vote for it just as quick if it were a war measure.

THE HERO OF HAVANA.

An Eloquent Estimate of General Fitzhugh Lee by Major D. W. Sanders.

At the opera house in Jeffersonville, Ind., last Friday evening, Maj. D. W. Sanders, by special invitation of the ladies of the G. A. R. Relief corps and Mayor Whitesides, spoke before an enthusiastic and overflowing audience for the benefit of the charity fund of the corps, the subject being "Grant and His Campaigns." The great characters of that epoch, from Lincoln to Lee, were vividly, reverentially and eloquently sketched. Concluding his masterful address, Maj. Sanders spoke touching as follows:

"And I desire to say tonight, as a confederate soldier, that in the history of all wars, where people organized armies, established a provisional government, and attempted to overthrow the constitutional authorities, never before in the history of the world were such terms granted to the unsuccessful soldier as Grant at Appomattox, and Sherman at Greensboro, gave to the confederates. It was an epoch in civilization. Unlike Havelock in the Indian war—the Sepoy rebellion of 1857—who shot the unsuccessful leaders from the mouths of his cannon, we were invited back upon our paroles, to assume all the duties and obligations of citizenship. And a curious fact it is, that after thirty-three years of peace, with our country great and prosperous, more magnificent in her commercial activities and industrial developments, and grander in all that makes a people worthy of the age and civilization in which they live, you will find that the confederate soldiers, through the magnanimity by which their paroles were granted them by these two great military men, have presided upon the supreme bench of the United States; they are senators and members of congress of the United States; they are ambassadors and ministers to foreign countries, honored and trusted. And you have today an example that nowhere else under the sun could occur, except among people such as these states have produced—that the only political, diplomatic point, requiring courage, intellect, tact, integrity and exceptional patriotism that you have had in thirty-three years of peace, is now filled by a major-general of the confederate army, who fought against Sherman and Grant, and who stands today as the representative of the government of the United States with the entire confidence and approbation of the American people, in the complicated situation at Havana. "It shows that while once we bore the emblem of suspicion, subsequent events have developed the characteristics of true devotion, of absolute reliability for all trusts and authorities imposed by the government of the United States, in the breast of the confederate soldier as he is to be found anywhere in this great land."

"Permit me to say in conclusion, that while Gen. Lee is an ex-confederate soldier, yet, if this country, with its great conservatism, its absolute caution, should determine that the pending difficulties with Spain can find solution only in a declaration of war against that power, then, in that event, the administration will be enthusiastically and heroically supported by the soldier population of the South to maintain our flag, wherever it may be carried, and to give life and bright manhood in defense of our government. If a resort to arms be called, the old confederate soldier in the South, with their armies all vanished and their flags forever furled, and the dust of civil war laid forever, will all rally to the support of the flag of our common country, no better or truer man will be found to lead under the colors of the United States than Gen. Fitzhugh Lee."

Society Gossip

MY MARY.
A bard would praise her saucy ways,
So winsome and so dainty,
Her form's sweet mold, her hair red gold,
Her eyes—the teasing fairy!
No bard am I, but shall I sigh?
Her heart is so contrary,
She'll have me say—no other way,
She's "just my own dear Mary."
—Glen.

In the basement of the Broadway Methodist Episcopal church last evening the ladies of the church gave a very pleasant candy pulling to the young people. Although a very bad night quite a good crowd attended.

Miss Pollie Vaughan entertained a few friends last evening with a Welsh rarebit. The evening was most delightfully spent by all present.

Mrs. Irene Cox and little daughter Louise, and Mrs. John Webb left yesterday for Nashville to visit friends.

Miss Martha Leech is enjoying her visit to Princeton very much. Miss Leech is one of Paducah's most charming young ladies, and away from home, as at home, is very popular.

There is some talk now of there being organized a chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy here. Many old confederate soldiers have lived and died here and it is nothing more than what is due their own and their comrades' memory for the daughters of our dear old south to do all in their power to make their names remembered not only in Paducah, but all over the south. Not many places in our southern states as large as our city are without one or more chapters. So do not let us lack in patriotism but do all honor to our living and dead soldiers, and thereby declare ourselves all true southern women. Though the south was defeated, yet it was not for the want of good, earnest men who willingly gave their lives for its cause, and theirs are as much the lives of heroes as if they had been victorious, and we should all remember their noble heroes' deeds.

Society seems to be keeping Lent just now, but a dance next week, given by some of the young men, is in prospect, and those who do not observe Lent will not doubt enjoy it, for it has been some time since the society folks have had a dance.

The Shakespeare club met yesterday afternoon with Miss Ora Leigh at her home on West Monroe street.

The Magazine club held a very pleasant meeting with Miss Jeannette Campbell Thursday afternoon.

Miss Annie Hale, of Mayfield, is visiting Mrs. C. E. Jennings, on West Broadway.

The Missionary Tea society, of the Grace Episcopal church, met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Henry Burnett.

Last evening at the Longfellow building the teachers held a very interesting meeting, the subject of conversation and discussion being James Russell Lowell.

If the reports are true Sam Clark, the man who fatally shot Mr. Carney, of this city, last week, is said to be rapidly losing his mind.

Yesterday afternoon several young ladies were driving on the Broadway road, just past Dr. Caldwell's, when a runaway horse attached to a light wagon came tearing up behind them and frightened their horse, and but for their presence of mind they might have been seriously injured.

The belts that the ladies are wearing now furnish food for thought as well as comments. It seems as if each one is trying to get one just a little prettier than their neighbors; and, really, many very pretty ones are seen, with their dainty chateaus hanging from them. Some are very expensive, while others are inexpensive and pretty as well, so that every one is able to have one of these novelties. This spring a dainty shirt waist, stylish skirt, jaunty sailor hat and a pretty fancy belt will constitute the costume of a well-dressed girl in the morning. And then, too, these belts can be worn in the afternoon and evening with your summer muslin and organza. So it has become not only a convenience, but almost a necessity for all the girls to have one or more belts.

About the old story of the camel—how three philosophers heard about the animal and determined to investigate. The Englishman hunted through the folios of the British Museum, to find what had been said about the beast; the German went into his study, locked the door, lit his pipe and began to evolve a conception of the animal from his own consciousness; the Frenchman went down to Sahara to see.

A JUDGE'S SUDDEN DEATH.

He Was Stricken in Church—A Striking Lesson to Those Who Neglect Timely Warning.

A learned judge was taken suddenly ill in church, December 5, 1897, in the city of Brooklyn. Four days later, in spite of the best medical aid, he died. The doctors said the judge had kidney disease and had lived a surprisingly long time, everything considered.

A man or woman may live along for years with incompetent kidneys only to collapse as suddenly as a house of cards when the baby's hand knocks it over. The early indications of Bright's disease are sometimes very slight—headaches, dull pains, depressed feelings, lack of energy—all these indicate the first stages of Bright's disease, and yet few people think they mean anything serious until, often, it is too late.

There has never been but one discovery known to the world and the medical profession for checking Bright's disease in its beginning or curing it after it has progressed. That discovery, which is so popular in Europe, America and throughout the world, is Warner's Safe Cure.

If the learned judge, who was stricken in church, had realized years before the secret power that was undermining his life, he might have counteracted it and lived to a green old age.

But he did not know! And alas! there are thousands of people today who are upon the same dangerous road, and who do not realize it.

FOUR BAD BOYS

BREAK SEWER PIPE.

Four Warrants—Three Arrested This Morning—Deliberately Broke the Pipe With a Hammer.

Lou Moss and Robert Carson Fined For Immorality and Warranted For Perjury.

The diversion to which a number of small boys, and large ones, too, have lately become addicted in various parts of the city, in breaking up sewer pipe joints, must be stopped.

The attention of the police has been called to it and this morning Officer Fred Hoyer arrested Sydney and Boone Groer and Carl Pruett, the oldest of whom is eleven years old, and the youngest, Pruett, who is the only white one, eight years old. The boys are charged with deliberately ruining many joints of pipe by breaking them with a large railroad hammer and building fires in them.

The boys claimed that Given Greer, who was not arrested, was the guilty one, and had the hammer, although they did not see him break the pipes. Pruett said they passed a pipe that had a fire in it and he threw some paper into it, but did nothing else. The case was left open until Monday.

Judge Sanders said he intended to fine the guilty boy or boys, no matter if he wasn't but six years old, for the best way to teach boys who "do not know any better," is to fine them. If they know better, such malicious mischief will not be allowed to go unpunished.

Lou Moss and Robt. Carson, colored, were charged with a misdemeanor this morning which would have cost them $25 or $30; now the penitentiary stares them in the face. But to get out of this, it is alleged they swore a lie. They were charged with immorality, and both swore emphatically that they had never lived together in Paducah, while two other witnesses swore positively that they had, and one of these witnesses was the Moss woman's own sister. They were fined $20 and costs each, and committed to prison on a charge of false swearing, for which they will be tried tomorrow.

The Moss woman admitted that she and Carson lived together in Cairo. She has a very unsavory reputation, having served a term or two in the Nashville penitentiary. She escaped twice and was recaptured here each time.

Finn Hamilton, one of the young men charged with assaulting a young man on South Third street several nights ago, was fined $5 and costs.

SUES THE CITY.

Mr. Ed. C. Eaker Sues for $500 for Alleged Breach of Contract.

He Was Employed as Engineer on the Street Roller, But Never Got to Work.

Ed. C. Eaker today filed suit in the circuit court against the city of Paducah for $500, for breach of contract.

This suit grew out of Mr. Eaker's employment as engineer for the street roller last spring. He was employed by the street committee of the council, but the council did not indorse the action of the committee, and Mr. J. B. Miles, a republican, was put in charge in place of Mr. Eaker, who had worked only two or three days.

Mr. Eaker contended he had a contract with the city, and continued to report for duty for some time.

Mr. Eaker claims the contract he had with the city was made last May, 17th, and that he was to receive $60 per month. He alleges he has been damaged to the extent of $500, and for this amount brings suit. Major Josiah Harris is his attorney.

LIGHT COMMISSIONERS

At Zanesville, Ohio, Inquire About Paducah's Electric Light.

The Mayor Reports That It Is Cheaper For a City to Own Its Own Plant.

A communication was today received from the board of light commissioners, at Zanesville, O., making inquiry of the mayor relative to Paducah's system of street electric lighting, number of lights, cost of maintaining them, and whether or not it is the opinion of those in authority that it is to the interest of a city to maintain its own plant.

The mayor furnished the desired report, and gave it as his opinion that it was a capital idea for a city to own its own plant.

REPORTED CHANGE

Of Captains on the Steamer Dick Fowler.

Capt. Mark Cole and Pilot Arthur Cole May Succeed Capt. Howard and Pilot Hart.

It was currently reported in river circles today that there would be an important change in the personnel of the Dick Fowler's officers Monday, when Capt. Ben Howard, one of the oldest and best known captains on the Ohio, would resign to be succeeded by Capt. Mark Cole. Mr. Arthur Cole, ex-city clerk, and brother of the above, will, according to rumors, become one of the pilots, to succeed Pilot James Hart.

The change, if there is to be one, will be the result of a difficulty between Capt. Howard and Pilot Hart. River men had heard the report in most instances, but were inclined to be reticent about them.

Capt. Joe Fowler, of the packet line, was asked if the change would take place, and replied: "There is nothing in the report—so far."

LIEUT. GEORGE SAFFARANS,

A Former Paducah Boy, Is to Be Promoted at Once.

Will Then Probably Be Transferred From Ft. Thomas to Kansas.

The following news of Lieutenant George C. Saffarans, formerly of this city, will be read with pleasure. It is from the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, and is as follows:

"Lieutenant George C. Saffarans, second lieutenant Company F, Sixth regiment, U. S. A., stationed at Ft. Thomas, will probably be transferred to the Thirtieth regiment of infantry, stationed at Ft. Leavenworth."

"Lieutenant Saffarans left for that city a few days ago and is now being examined for a commission as first lieutenant. He has been stationed at Ft. Thomas since 1894, having been graduated from the National Military academy at West Point two years prior to that time. Lieutenant Saffarans is one of the most popular of the officers at the post, and was recently married to the daughter of Capt. Crowell, of Ft. Thomas. He is a native Kentuckian, having been born and reared in Paducah. The lieutenant will in all probability, receive his commission the early part of next week, and will assume his duties at once."

THE CURFEW ORDINANCE

Is Proving a Great Success, as Was Predicted by Its Promoters.

Dr. H. S. Jones, of Corydon, Ky., Writes For Information About the Law.

Dr. H. S. Jones, of Corydon, Ky., who is at the head of a crusade against bad boys who won't stay at home at night, wrote the mayor today asking how the curfew law is working here, making inquiry relative to the age of boys and the hour they are required to go in, and for other points that will be of assistance to the authorities of Corydon in drafting a curfew ordinance.

A public meeting will be held there next Wednesday, March 16, and Mayor Lang answered the letter at once, indicating the ordinance.

There has been but one arrest made under the ordinance, which has been in force in Paducah for one week. This was a colored boy, who proved he worked late. Two or three boys were picked up a night or two ago, but they proved to be over the required age.
